Thinking about buying medication online. Make sure to buy safe!

When U.S. residents search for Canadian online pharmacies, they will find hundreds of websites that initially, but incorrectly, appear to sell U.S. residents drugs supplied by licensed pharmacies located in Canada. Additionally, there are many more websites that claim to have some relation to Canada – slap a maple leaf on a website – to confuse U.S. consumers. These sites have no real connection to Canada at all – they do not work with a pharmacy or pharmacist licensed by a Canadian province and do not have physical presence in Canada. Like the other “Canadian online pharmacy” websites, these sites also do not source drugs that are approved by Health Canada. CMSA Associate Director, John B. Hertig, is working with the Alliance for Safe Online Pharmacies – Global to reduce the risk associated with this prevalent medication safety issue.
